

The West Virginia School of Osteopathic Medicine

Seeking GERIATRICIAN

WVSOM IS SEEKING A FULL TIME TENURE TRACK FACULTY POSITION IN GERIATRICS. Primary responsibilities include providing pre-doctoral education and training of WVSOM students, including lectures, problem-based learning facilitation, clinical precepting, as well as helping to develop and implement an outpatient geriatrics assessment center. Clinical practice and nursing home privileges are also a part of the position requirements. Hospital practice is available if desired. Position requires completion of a residency and board certification in Internal Medicine or Family Practice, as well as completion of fellowship training or a certificate of added qualification in Geriatrics. Ideally the successful candidate will have experience in clinical teaching. The candidate must also be able to be licensed in the state of West Virginia, which requires a rotating osteopathic internship for osteopathic physicians.

Our ambulatory clinic is a state of the art facility serving communities in the greater Greenbrier Valley area and providing care for a population base of approximately 75,000. The clinic specializes in Geriatrics, Geriatric Psychiatry, Family Medicine, Internal Medicine, Pediatrics and Osteopathic Manipulative Medicine. The clinic has 66,000 patients annually.

WVSOM offers an excellent benefit package including the availability of fully paid malpractice insurance, loan repayment and relocation assistance. Our campus is located in Lewisburg, WV, a picturesque community nestled in the southern Appalachian mountains and named one of America's Best Small Art Towns by National Geographic.
